

TB0001 Guide Pads

Date: 08/07/98

As a result of recent R&D work on our guide pads we have introduced a new material into our program.

This new material is a significant improvement over the previous material and should give approximately 4 times the life expectancy.

Effective immediately all new Sidelifters will be fitted with the new type guide pads. Spare parts of the new material will be available by 1-8-98.

To identify the pads the colours have changed. The old type pads are coloured blue with the new type pads being grey.
